"It's all in one... it's self-contained -- it gives you an interest inventory, work values, aptitudes and skills or work history, then a person can search on those things and come up with matches to possible occupations... It's a good place to start and a good place to narrow things down."

- Wayne Harvey

Senior Rehabilitation Counselor

BRIDGES
Explore • Plan • Achieve

Engage clients in an interactive process that builds self-knowledge, encourages exploration of occupations and majors, and helps plan for future education and career transitions.

Be Accountable

The OnTrack accountability system lets you review each client's assessment results and progress. Easily relate and respond to their interests by reviewing their focus lists of occupation and education options. Customize local administrative reports to document your transition programs.

Expand Self-Knowledge with Assessments and Surveys

Help clients gauge their skill level in a variety of employability areas using the Basic Skills Survey. The Interest Profiler identifies interests by the six R-I-A-S-E-C interest areas. The Work Importance Locator assesses six work values and relates them to occupations. Clients can compare their assessment results with the factors typically required for success in a variety of occupations.

Dynamic Portfolio Supports Transition Planning

Choices' interactive Planning Tools is a powerful electronic portfolio that helps clients develop education and career transition plans. Activate every client's career plan with connections to job banks and tools for resume writing, interview practice and planning a job search.

Self-Guided Interactive Research

Enrich career exploration with links to more than 200 online career videos and key Guideways that provide guidance relevant to clients' objectives by suggesting next steps based on what they've started or completed. Clients easily work on their own, saving you time.
